

Once upon a time there were 3 frogs who used to quarrel and quibble all day long. Milton thought all the water belonged to him. He always said "The water is mine!" He wouldn't let anyone else in the pond.

Rupert thought the island belonged to him. He always said "The land is mine!" He wouldn't let anyone else play on the island.

Lydia thought the air belonged to her. She always said "The air is mine!" She didn't want to share with anyone else.

One day a large toad came. He said "I live far away. I always hear you shouting "It's mine! It's mine! It's mine!" You need to find a way to share."

The toad hopped away. But the frogs kept arguing "It's mine! It's mine! It's mine!"

Then suddenly the sky got very dark and it started to rain. It rained and it rained and it rained.
